How to use it: write in every bottle once, in pencil. Every few weeks tick its level again; anything down to 1/4 goes on the shopping list on page 2.

HOW LONG THINGS KEEP

Spirits keep for years, opened or not. Store them upright, away from sun and heat.

Vermouth is wine: into the fridge once opened, and finish it within about a month.

Syrups: date them and keep them cold; pour out any that turn cloudy.

Tonic and soda go flat a day or two after opening, so buy small bottles.

WHEN TO REORDER

Ticked 1/4? Put it on the shopping list on page 2.

Keep a spare of the bottle you reach for most.

Planning a party? Check the sheet against the menu before you shop.

Write the date you open each bottle: in a few months the sheet shows what you really drink, and what to stop buying.
